

SPML Infra bags two new projects

Published on December 09, 2019

SPML Infra has received two new project orders worth ₹218.18 crore. The orders are for wastewater treatment projects from the Uttar Pradesh Jal Nigam (₹183.68 crore) and the Haryana State Industrial and Infrastructure Development Corporation Ltd (₹34.50 crore).

One order pertains to planning, designing, engineering, procurement, construction, testing and commissioning of a sewage treatment plant (STP) and interception and diversion of drain in Jaunpur, Uttar Pradesh for pollution abatement of river Ganga under National Mission for Clean Ganga (NMCG).

"The project has been received with JV partner, Pulkit Projects," it said.

The second order is for planning, designing, engineering, procurement, construction, testing and commissioning of a common effluent treatment plant and main pumping station based on tertiary treatment for the industrial area of Bahadurgarh, the company said.

"We are happy to receive the order for wastewater treatment under the Namami Gange Scheme. Water and waste water management are the most promising sector in the country and significant funds have been allocated by the government under several schemes," SPML Infra Ltd Chairman Subhash Sethi said.
